

Think of this as your career inflection point.

Groundswell became the world's #1 Appian firm by hiring the best people and creating a culture second to none.

Because of that success, we're looking for more technology experts and gurus-in-the-making who want to work as collaborators and partners on some of the biggest challenges facing government and business today.

At Groundswell, you're not just given problems to solve; we provide challenges—and support—that will lead to your personal growth. And mutual success with our clients.

You'll be working with the best in the business, the best clients as well as the best collaborators and mentors.

#1 in Appian; Certified in many others

When it comes to Appian, we helped write their Best Practices. And we have the experts to help you become an expert.

We leverage modern, flexible digital transformation platforms and have world-class accelerators, component libraries and practice communities. And we have the certifications to prove our cross-platform expertise.

Powered by people and culture

As you know, the best technology solutions are produced by the best people working together in the best culture. Ours is a small company culture with big company reach and results.

We're building some of the most innovative solutions for government and business as we build a community of mentors and trainers. You'll be able to learn from people who can answer your questions and help implement your ideas. We're all invested in your success.

Comprehensive Workforce Development Program

In 2022 alone, we've invested over $750,000 in professional development of our team enabling our team members to earn over 120 professional certifications.

If you'd like to work at the forefront of some of the most innovative solutions for government and business today, visit our website or email us with questions.
